Soviets Fire, Return Another Space Ship

Dog, Other Small
Creatures Carried
Around Earth

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today successfully orbited and brought back to earth another animal-carrying space ship. Moscow Radio said it carried a dog and other small creatures.

The launching was a repeat performance of a March 11 Sputnik, when a dog was rocketed into orbit and brought back safely. That Sputnik weighed 4,700 kilograms (10,360 pounds).

Moscow Radio said today's space ship weighed just about the same — 4,695 kilograms (10,329 pounds)—indicating the two may have been similar models.

Dog's Condition Normal

The dog was named Zvezdochka (Little Star), and the announcement said "preliminary investigation of the landed space ship-satellite have shown the condition of the experimental animal is normal."

Today's announcement, read repeatedly on domestic broadcasts of Moscow Radio, hailed the new launching as "another magnificent victory of Soviet science and technique."

That was the introductory sentence. The rest of the announcement said: "The fifth Soviet satellite space ship was put into orbit around the earth on March 23, 1961. On the same day the satellite space ship landed on command from the earth in a predetermined area of the Soviet Union."

Soviet authorities have insisted human astronauts never would be shot into space until their safe return to earth is guaranteed.

3 Days Before Meeting

The launching took place three days before a meeting of the Communist-bloc military alliance, the Warsaw Pact, is due to open in Moscow.

In past months Soviet scientists have repeatedly said much testing and experimenting is necessary before a man can be put into space safely. Similar statements were made after the launching earlier this month.

Only 16 days ago the Soviets announced a dog named Brunette (or Blackie) and other small creatures were thrown into orbit and brought back to earth the same day. This flight was described as being "for the further adjustment of the design of the spaceship and of the systems on board so as to insure the necessary conditions for the flight of man."

Western scientists have been closely watching Soviet space announcements since March 14, when Premier Khrushchev predicted the Soviet Union soon would rocket one of its astronauts into orbit.

Presser Back In Jail for Full 60 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—William Presser, Ohio Teamsters Union official, was in jail again today, serving a 60-day term for contempt of Congress.

But the five days he served in a Cleveland jail last week don't count.

Presser, chairman of the Ohio Conference of Teamsters, was convicted here a year ago for refusing to tell the Senate Labor Rackets Committee in 1958 whether he had destroyed some personal and union financial records that he had been commanded to produce.

Last week in Cleveland the 52-year-old union official turned himself in to a federal marshal. He said he was nervous, couldn't sleep and wanted to get his jail sentence out of the way.

Five days later, authorities discovered Presser still had an appeal pending before the Supreme Court. They turned him loose.

On Monday, the Supreme Court turned down Presser's appeal. He surrendered Friday to begin his term for a second time. This time he had a doctor's letter saying he is a sick man entitled to special treatment.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Friday he was investigating whether it was the custom in Cleveland to put people in jail without commitment papers.

Runaway Steel Rig Injures 4 In Lisbon

LISBON — A runaway, steel-laden truck-trailer, its driver blowing the horn desperately, careened south on N. Market St. Friday at 4:35 p.m., leaving a trail of injured people and demolished autos in its wake.

Two persons were hospitalized and two others suffered slight injuries and shock as the vehicle ran wild down the steep hill and came to rest after smashing into two cars parked on the square across from the Courthouse.

Injured and admitted to Salem hospitals were:

Mrs. John Thompson, 25, of 255 W. Chestnut St., in fair condition at the City Hospital with a cerebral concussion, lacerations of the scalp and bruises of the face, hands and feet.

Karl C. Nicholas, 48, of 116 Summit St., in good condition at the Central Clinic with possible fractured ribs.

Nicholas' son, David, 16, who suffered shock and bruises; after treatment at City Hospital.

George E. Horkulic, 27, of Toronto, the truck driver, who sustained minor injuries but refused medical treatment.

Brakes Failed to Hold

Police said Horkulic discovered his brakes were not functioning as his truck was descending Market St. hill about a block from the village square.

The heavy vehicle, rapidly gathering speed, crashed into Mrs. Thompson's car which was emerging from E. Lincoln Way and turning north on N. Market St.

The truck demolished the auto, hurling Mrs. Thompson to the pavement, and proceeded through the square where it struck the Nicholas auto and another car owned by Adam Kaneski of Steubenville.

Nicholas and his son, who were in their car when it was struck, made a futile attempt to jump out before the impact, police said. David emerged from the auto without his shoes.

The truck smashed the Nicholas auto between the rig and a tree. The left side of the Kaneski

Space Capsule Test Successful

Manned Flight May Be Six Weeks Away

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Manned space flight is a step closer — possibly only six weeks away — following the successful launching of a Redstone missile carrying a mock space capsule.

Officials emphasized, however, that more tests, including at least one more rocket launch, remain before an American astronaut can take a short suborbital rocket flight.

The sleek Redstone boosted the dummy capsule 115 miles high and 311 miles down range Friday in a test designed to prove out changes made in the rocket as a result of flaws which developed when Ham the space chimp rode aloft on a short space trip in January.

The most serious malfunction on the Ham shot — a faulty engine thrust regulator — apparently worked perfectly Friday.

Dr. Kurt Debus, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration launch operations, said if careful analysis of data shows the Redstone performed smoothly, no further Redstone tests will be required before a man rides one of the missiles over approximately the same 15-minute course.

Walter Williams, Project Mercury operations director, told newsmen at least one more launching of the production capsule on a Little Joe rocket must precede the manned test. This shot, expected within a few weeks, will be a repeat of a firing conducted last Saturday at Wallops Island, Va.

Several hours after the Redstone flight, an Atlas blazed away from the cape on the start of an intended record 9,042-mile flight to the Indian Ocean. But the booster assembly failed to separate from the main engine, and the flight terminated after the rocket reached 4,500 miles, half the distance planned.

West's Hopes Hit Snag on Nuclear Ban

GENEVA (AP)—Western hopes for an early treaty with the Soviets on banning nuclear weapons tests appeared today running into the same old snags that have plagued the talks for 2½ years.

With the resumed conference recessed for the weekend, a revival of the propaganda battle for world opinion appeared shaping up.

The Soviet news agency Tass said today the United States and Britain are trying to give the impression of offering "new sweeping proposals" and "far-reaching concessions" while the Soviet Union is standing pat.

The Tass correspondent, I. Maksimovsky, said that the Western powers are "marking time and, in effect, glossing over the Soviet Union's constructive proposals."

The conference sessions are secret but the Tass reporter said the U.S.S.R. submitted "new important proposals" when the talks resumed last Monday. No details were given.

This was the first indication the Soviets had made any new proposals.

8 Girls Advance to County Event

Jackie Jewell Wins Rural Schools Bee

An all-girl squad will represent Columbiana County schools in the countywide spelldown April 7 at Lisbon High School gym. The eight girls — Three from United Local, two each from Beaver Local and Fairfield-Waterford and a lone entrant from Wayne Local — qualified in the rural school finals Friday afternoon at Franklin Local at Summitville.

Heading the list was Jackie Jewell, 14, an eighth grader at United and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jewell of Lisbon RD 4. Jackie was among the top spellers in last year's bee, qualifying for the countywide finals.

The other spellers in the order they finished were: Mary Lou Boies, 14, of East Palestine RD 1, an eighth grader at Fairfield-Waterford, second; Marsha Simpican, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Simpican of Negley RD 1, a seventh grader at Beaver Local, third; Joyce Simms, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones of East Liverpool RD 1, seventh grader at Beaver Local, fifth; Diane Patton, 14, of New Waterford RD, eighth grader at Fairfield-Waterford, sixth; Cheri Schroyer, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schroyer of Lisbon RD 4, eighth grader at United Local, seventh and Karen Culbertson, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olen Culbertson of Lisbon RD 4, also an eighth grader at United Local, eighth.

Susan Kjellman, 12, seventh grader at Beaver Local and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kjellman of East Liverpool RD 2, will be the alternate.

In the bee for fifth and sixth graders yesterday morning, Marjorie Bretz of New Waterford defeated a classmate, Paul Morris, for the championship.

Two Youths Hurt As Auto Leaves Road

Vincent R. Horning, Jr., 19, of 1517 Cleveland St., is in satisfactory condition at the Central Clinic with severe head lacerations and other injuries suffered at 4:10 this morning in a one-car accident on Rt. 62, a mile west of Salem.

A passenger of Horning's, Robert Williams, 18, of 236 Market St., Lisbon, was treated for minor injuries and released.

Horning, a former Salem High School football quarterback and now a freshman at Kent State University, suffered lacerations of the head and both forearms and multiple back abrasions.

Williams received lacerations of the scalp and one arm.

The State Highway Patrol said Horning lost control of the car which went off the left side of the road and struck an embankment. The accident is still under investigation.

An East Liverpool man was treated at East Liverpool City Hospital for a laceration of the left hand suffered in another one-car accident on Rt. 30, a mile north of East Liverpool, at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

The Patrol said Otis Stewart, 30, was traveling north on Rt. 30 when he lost control of his car which ran off the right side of the road into a ditch.

Heart-Lung Device Invented

Machine To Replace
Massage by Hand

CLEVELAND (AP) — Inventor James H. Rand III and Dr. Claude S. Beck, eminent heart surgeon, have teamed up to perfect a new heart-lung machine for emergency treatment of heart-attack victims without cutting into their chests.

The new machine, demonstrated to a Cleveland Academy of Medicine audience late Friday, may become standard equipment in ambulances of the future.

By means of a plunger that presses the chest, the heart is pumped rhythmically, and air is forced into the lungs.

"This will aid the brain for from 20 minutes to an hour so a living patient can be delivered at the hospital rather than a body to the morgue," Dr. Beck said, adding: "After death, brain deterioration proceeds at such a rate that it cannot be reversed after from three to five minutes. Manual strokes against the chest must squeeze the heart and keep blood going into the brain until the machine can be used."

"The machine does what the hand of a trained person does. But one stroke of the hand that is too heavy can crack the heart or rupture the liver or break a rib."

British Optimistic Over Laos Accord

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) rushed here today for a crisis conference on Laos.

Ready for them is a defense blueprint, drawn up by SEATO military experts who favor the hard U.S. line and want the alliance' fighting power strengthened.

Western military movements in the area were being kept secret, reportedly on orders of Washington. Sources in Manila said the U.S. aircraft carrier Bennington had sailed from the Subic Bay naval base into the South China Sea toward Laos several days ago, presumably with escort vessels.

Grows More Serious

Radio Moscow today agreed that the situation grows more serious daily in the jungle kingdom of Laos — a crossroads of the Communist and non-Communist worlds in Asia. But the Soviets remained silent on Western peace proposals put forward by the British.

London's proposal is that Britain and the Soviet Union, as co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina, ask the warring factions in Laos to cease hostilities and revive the control

3 Ohioans Die In Plane Crash

Probe Launched of
W. Virginia Mishap

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency launched an investigation today into the crash of a single-engine airplane which killed three young men from Ohio.

Burned wreckage of the plane and bodies of the victims were found Friday on a snow-covered mountainside in a remote and rugged section of West Virginia's eastern panhandle.

The victims were Daniel Stallsmith and David Souter, both 21 and both of Dayton, Ohio, and Robert E. Gibson, 20, of Englewood, Ohio.

After the wreckage was spotted from the air, a rescue party of about 20 persons led by State Trooper W. A. Woods had to struggle through 12 inches of snow in mountainous, heavily wooded country to reach the scene.

Woods said Stallsmith was piloting the plane. He and Gibson were aircraft radio technicians for Skyways Inc. of Dayton, which owned the Piper Comanche.

The three rented the plane Thursday and took off for Annapolis, Md., to pick up a midshipman friend on spring vacation from the U.S. Naval Academy.

In 1958, the year all three were graduated together from Trotwood Madison High School, Stallsmith "borrowed" a $40,000 airplane at a Municipal Airport near Dayton. When he landed a half-hour later, he told authorities he had taken flying lessons but never had handled the controls of a twin-engine aircraft.

The plane came down on the west side of Cacapon Mountain in Cacapon State Park, about 10 air miles south of here and three miles north of where a corner of Virginia juts into West Virginia.

Two men were thrown clear of the plane. The burned body of the other was found inside. Pieces of wreckage were scattered through treetops and on the ground. Some of it was burned.

Woods said the plane apparently was just 300 to 400 yards shy of clearing the top of the mountain ridge, which is 2,300 feet high at its highest point farther south.

A farmer in the area heard a plane flying low and then an explosion, Thursday but the search was not started until Friday because of early darkness and fog settling over the mountains.

Pranksters Turn On Fire Hydrant

An estimated 20,000 gallons of water were lost when pranksters opened a fire hydrant at the corner of the Albany Rd. and 18th St., north of the city, sometime during the night.

Fire Chief Clarence Wright, who warned of the seriousness of such actions, said someone opened the hydrant by using a pipe wrench. The cap was removed and the water ran continuously until 6 a.m. when Wilford Thomas, water department superintendent, discovered the trouble.

Chief Wright said the water loss had caused a drop in pressure by lowering the level of the standpipe near Highland Ave. Anyone caught tampering with a fire hydrant will be arrested the chief warned.

C47 With 8 Aboard Is Missing In Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced today that a U.S. C47 airplane assigned to the American air attaché in Laos has been missing for two days with eight men aboard.

Whether the aircraft was flying over Communist controlled territory in the war-stricken country, a State Department spokesman was unable to say.

commission of India, Poland and Canada. An international peace conference would then be called.

Prime Minister Nehru of India, asked by President Kennedy to use his prestige and influence with Moscow to achieve a Laotian cease fire, sent word to the President that he will do all he can. Official sources in New Delhi said Nehru wants the Soviets to make the next move on the British proposal.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said the Soviets promised to give "serious and urgent" consideration to Britain's proposals.

Lord Home Optimistic

Leaving Britain, Foreign Secretary Lord Home was optimistic and saw a good chance that Moscow will accept London's proposals.

"I think the Russians are really concerned to see a genuinely neutral Laos," Lord Home said.

Another approach will be put before the SEATO ministers, who open their meeting Monday.

Youngstown Crash Kills 1, Injures 8

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A young woman was killed and eight persons received minor injuries Friday night when a car went out of control and ran into a group of pedestrians, struck a parked car and rammed a utility pole.

Miss Gladys Sink, 24, was killed. A North High School graduate, she was leaving a variety show at that school when the accident occurred. Two 15-year-old students with her were cut and bruised when the car swerved into them.

Andrew Pettiford, 20, of Youngstown, driver of the car, told police he lost control of his vehicle when he swerved to avoid another automobile that had pulled out of a cross street into his path. He and four occupants of his car, along with the driver of the parked car which was hit, received minor injuries.

Association Plans Area Youth Camp

A youth camp for young people of the area is being planned by the Full Gospel Evangelistic Association Inc.
Plans for the camp will be outlined at a rally Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the Canfield High School. The purpose of the association is to form a center of activity in Mahoning County where the youth, of all denominations, of the greater Youngstown area, may gather for the spiritual enrichment of their lives.
The association has secured a 30-acre tract of land located on Route 62, three miles south of Canfield Center. Several acres of ground were donated by Mrs. Mary Demes.
Rev. David J. Beam of Youngstown is director of the project which will cost an estimated $150,000, which would be used to erect a cafeteria and dormitory. Activities at the camp will be planned the year around, with the hope of eliminating any possibility of juvenile delinquency in the area.

Palm Sunday Meditation

By Rev. C. Leslie Wells, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church
The "day" mentioned in John 12:12 and further described in the chapter, also in Matthew 21, Mark 11 and Luke 19, is known in Christendom as "Palm Sunday," the beginning of the memorable week in which Christ died as the substitute for sinners, in which He was laid in the tomb; the next week begins with the glorious day of Resurrection.
When the people, who had come to Jerusalem for the Feast of the Passover, heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem, they went forth to meet Him using palm branches in their welcome. The palm was the well-known symbol of victory. They shouted "Hosanna" or "Save now". That is quoted from Psalm 118 which is a Messianic Psalm setting forth the Lord Jesus Christ as the blessed Son of David. "Hosanna! Blessed is the King of Israel that cometh in the name of the Lord."
Some might say, "Well, at last the Saviour is being recognized for what He is and Who He is, and will be able to take the Throne and reign in righteousness overthrowing all iniquity." But no, it was just a little remnant of the people who really acknowledged Him. The majority of the religious leaders had combined to refuse the claims of Christ and were determined to put Him to death. It was not very long after the cries of "Hosanna" before those leaders stirred up the people in Pilate's judgment hall to shout, "We have no king but Caesar." And so Christ was definitely rejected by the leaders of the nation and by the majority of the people when He came as King. We are reminded of John 1:1-14 which describes Jesus Christ, the eternal Word, very God Himself, coming to His own creation, being made flesh, dwelling among men, being rejected by His own people, but that there were some who believed and received Him... "to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name." On this Palm Sunday, 1961, let us ask ourselves this question, "Have I received the Lord Jesus Christ as my Saviour and given Him a royal welcome as King and Lord of my life?"

Overcoming a Tough Situation

I stood staring fascinated, as they poured the thick flaming liquid into a huge graflex crucible. The place: a brass foundry. The liquid: molten brass at a temperature of 2200 degrees Fahrenheit. The intense heat transmitted through the graflex made the whole crucible glow like fire. After a few moments they poured the brass out of this crucible into the next receptacle. The man who was showing me through the foundry then picked up a huge sledge and struck the red-hot empty crucible again and again with all his might. Net effect: Only a few little dents.

Then he drew my attention to another crucible of the same size and type—one that had cooled off. He said, "Now watch what happens to this one." He took a small hammer and with a flick of the wrist gave the cold crucible one smart tap. It broke into many pieces. "When the graflex is hot, it resists and you can't break it," he said. "When it's cold, it's brittle and it shatters."

INSTANTLY I WAS struck by the likeness between this and what happens to human beings under the hammer blows of trouble. When they are alive with the fire of vital faith and aglow with the love of God you can't break them no matter what hits them—they can handle a tough situation. Shock and pressure cannot crack you unless, of course, you let yourself grow spiritually cold.

Recently I conducted services in memory of an old friend whom I often think of as a truly manly Christian. He was good company, good fun, but he had a strong quality against which trouble broke down and compromise had no effect.

He was Herbert Schwamb, for many years head of personnel in a large company. He used to call me in on personnel problems which he felt called for counseling with a minister. One day he got me on the telephone and said, "I have a tough problem."

HE EXPLAINED that a certain branch manager, a young married man, had got involved with one of the salesgirls. Word of this had reached company headquarters. The man was summoned to New York. When he presented himself at Schwamb's office he had with him his wife, who apparently gathered something was wrong, but did not know what. Schwamb asked the wife to excuse him while he talked with her husband alone in his private office.

He told the man the company could not continue him as manager in that particular spot. But he went on to say that it was his policy never to fire a man—in the usual sense, meaning out—if he could fire him inwardly with new strength and purpose. The man replied, "I am sorer than I can tell you." Then he asked, "Shall I tell my wife all about this?"

"I can't answer that for you," Schwamb said. "That is up to you. You had better stay here by yourself awhile and pray." He knew from experience that business and religion really do mix.

So the man stayed in the private office and prayed. Then he came out and told his wife what he had done. He wasn't strong enough to have got himself straightened out without inflicting on his wife the pain of his weakness. So he told her—and this naturally broke her up.

IT WAS THEN THAT Schwamb got in touch with me. He brought the unhappy couple to my office and waited while I talked with them. The man sincerely repented and asked forgiveness. I was satisfied that he was real about it. When you sincerely ask forgiveness, God forgives; you are off to a new start.

But there was still the wife's reaction to overcome. I asked her if she was ready to forgive and forget. She answered that she didn't know. "Well then, you should stay right here and pray until you find out," I said.

This young wife was a tremendous character. It was a hard blow and you could see her struggle with it. But like the hot crucible she had a radiant faith that even this difficulty couldn't crack. She put her hand on her husband's shoulder and said touchingly, "I've loved you since I was a little girl. I just want to ask you one thing. Was this the only time?"

He looked her straight in the eye and said, "Yes, honey, it was."

"If it isn't, now is the time to come clean all the way," I said.

"What I've said is the truth," he asserted—and I felt it was so.

"Now, do not ever ask him that again. This must be the end of it. So let's forget it from now on," I urged. And she agreed.

The man was assigned to another branch in a different part of the country and has since done all right. One thing is sure, they discovered the hard way how to handle a tough situation. And that is a discovery everyone must make if he expects to live this life successfully.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Do you gain any real comfort from that old cliché about dark clouds having silver linings? Who can peel a cloud to find its happy lining?

But frustration has been a blessing to many men. It has driven self-centered souls to seek a new fulcrum for life. It has brought men to God . . . acknowledging human failure . . . seeking divine strength.

And as they have found in the Church comfort and courage they have learned anew the spiritual meaning of defeat and victory.

The One that this world crucified is King of kings. Beyond a cross and a crown of thorns our greatest aspirations await us.

If It Came to a Showdown

Only in the most limited sense will the Kennedy administration throw up the issue of foreign aid for grabs in Congress. Its declared intention to bring order out of chaos in the foreign aid program does not signify there is any uncertainty about foreign aid, itself.

It has become a rooted doctrine, like the all-American doctrine that the world would be better if all nations practiced democracy, though democracy in the United States was hateful to the Founding Fathers, who insisted that this should be a republic.

Foreign aid as a talking point rolls off the tongue as handily as democracy, when it's a talking point. Both ideas turn to mush when brought under skeptical scrutiny. Granted that foreign aid at the rate of some $85 billion since the end of World War II has done inestimable good, the doubt remains that it has done $85 billion worth of good.

ITS PURPOSE was to keep the Communist Conspiracy from making hay with the chaos left in the wake of the great war machines that mashed the world. Its theory was that the United States could produce such a state of international satisfaction with massive injections of wealth that unsettled nations would be immune to the Communist Conspiracy.

But foreign aid faltered in both purpose and theory.

No immunity to Communist subversion was established.

Human nature as reflected in the decisions of government was neither better nor worse than it has been for the last 10,000 years. Governments have taken everything they could get from the United States and come back for more. Their wants have been insatiable.

But they have not loved and respected the hand that fed them. They have bitten it and threatened to chew it off entirely if it did not shower down what they wanted. They consistently have threatened to play footsie with Moscow if they were not propitiated by the money gods in Washington.

Lately they have been talking about a position called neutrality, which means—bluntly defined — "We'll take your money, Sam, but we're not for sale." If Washington could be sure they'd feel the same way about Ivan's money, it could live with its doubts. But when Ivan gives money, he doesn't ask for permission to move in, he just shows up for breakfast.

IF IT CAME to a showdown, the United States couldn't be sure of anything. Even Canada, which everybody always has taken for granted, has been feeling neutral lately about touchy issues like Red China. France has been having neutralish twinges, and Britain, too.

Some of the new African republics are all mixed up with Stars, Stripes, hammers and sickles. The United States is like an indulgent grandfather who has given the grandchildren everything their hearts desired, but when the old boy wants a favor done his darlings are late for a heavy date.

Foreign aid has kept communism at bay, if only in the United States. It's one of those situations that make a beneficiary out of the benefactor. It has been good for America to take an interest in fighting for men's minds with dollars and it has been good for business. Furthermore, it has been such a pain in the neck to the Kremlin that it had to adopt a similar program to erase the impression it was planning to win men's minds with brute force — no rubles, just rumpuses.

Perhaps what the program needs is extensive redefining of purpose and theory. It might be better to quit talking about fighting communism and talk, instead, about casting bread on the waters in the hope it will be returned tenfold.

That's a not too substantial hope, of course. If it came to a showdown, there isn't a beneficiary of U.S. foreign aid who would give Uncle Sam the time of day without charging for the information. But that's the way human nature has been for 10,000 years.

Ol' Rockin' Chair, Come Get Me

The greatest boost any president has given an obscure exercise since Herbert Hoover made his Cabinet members exercise with a medicine ball has been given via the rocking chair in President Kennedy's office.

By this time millions have seen him sitting in it and have heard his official physician's opinion that he and all the rest of us could benefit by sitting in rocking chairs. Squeak-Squack, Inc., manufacturer of old-fashioned rocking chairs as new as tomorrow's teenage yowling sensation, has shot up 10 points.

What is this crazy editorialist talking about?

He is talking about a chair that rocks. Millions of us were rocked to sleep in rocking chairs. We played in them when we were kids. We learned to be ashamed of them when new-fangled furniture came into style. We helped carry the fuddy-duddy old rockers up to the attic and, heaven have mercy on us, we may have helped carry them to the old furniture dealer.

That was before men began to die like flies while widows, who clung to rockers in bedrooms and sewing rooms, lived on and on. It was before the country needed psychiatrists. The mixed-up characters used to sit in rocking chairs and rock and rock and rock and rock until everybody else caught up to them. It was before television and much of it was before radio but not before the stereopticon. Was there really anything before stereopticon?

Anyway, President Kennedy uses a rocking chair and everybody will want one now. We must hustle to the broker's to put in an order for 10 shares of Squeak-Squack, Inc., the chair that lets the world know where you are. The New Frontier may not be too bad at that. Dwight Eisenhower used to say he intended to retire into a rocking chair, but John Kennedy uses one on the job.

cents for transfer. Remember away back when they were for free and could be used a day late if lucky?

April's near and spring's all set; Winter's over... Wanna BET? The robin red again is in. And carrying some ASPIRIN!

Leesburg, Va., has given President Kennedy a nonresident license in fox and hounds hunt. Cry of the fox: "Cheese it. This season Harvard is after us."

Premier Nasser barred Helen Hayes and her troupe because it had given a performance in Israel. Freedom, in his opinion, means the right to route traveling players and raise or lower theater curtains.

President Kennedy may soon adopt the Fireside Chat routine. This will give administration the Franklin Fitzdelano Kennedy touch. In his live telecasts he has seemed surrounded and cut off at the crossroads. They have been reporters' rodeos. The old FDR fireside format could be more effective. Roosevelt had the perfect fireside chat style, helped by an almost musical voice, a sense of relaxation and an appreciation of showmanship plus a few laughs for every fireside. Mr. Kennedy has seemed extra dignified and a little afraid of the boffo.

Franklin D. had a dog, Fala, which figured in the chats. President Kennedy should get one and, judging from his decision to join the Virginia fox and hounds set, it could be a foxhound.

Once Over

Bob Moses, boss of New York World Fair, continues to put a chill on midway features. He rejects Abel Green's warning that a world fair without flavor of the strip-tease and cooch dance is poison at the box office.

Science and engineering are wonderful but Sally Rand could lick 'em both, Mr. Green holds. He may be right. Customers concentrating on industrial exhibit can set new speed records toward origin of cry "Take 'em off" coming across fair grounds.

There will be amusements galore, says Mr. Moses, but "no blatant, crude, cheap, old-fashioned midway with barkers and balleyhoo men." He is foe of the "Streets of Cairo" motif and will fight the strippers like Sir Galahad in red underwear and a suit with two pair of pants. It will be a well-dressed world fair with no exhibit allowed to project idea of global progress in torso twisting. There may be a "stripper gap" as alarming as the missile gap but it will not be demonstrated at this exposition, if Mr. Moses doesn't surrender.

He didn't build all those New York highways, boulevards, parkways and bridges in order to get people to any 1961 model Gypsy Rose Lee faster. But it's possible he may have to ease the restrictions. There are thousands of customers who could take or leave a Hall of Outer Space Mechanisms but who would step on the gas to reach "Little Egypt, the Toast of the Nile in her Sensational Fan and Bubble Dances."

FIFTH AVENUE BUS line is asking 5 a foxhound.

Just 'Horse Sense'

By VICTOR WILSON

When a freshman congressman comes up with an idea that starts top government attorneys burning midnight oil, that's news — even in blase Washington.

And when this idea just might — and it should be emphasized, just might — solve the constitutional controversy now swirling around President Kennedy's aid-to-education bill, the man with the idea is worth looking over.

He is Rep. Roman Conrad Pucinski, D-Ill., elected to serve Chicago's 11th District in 1958 and now beginning his second term.

This makes him so much of a Capitol Hill freshman that he has only one committee assignment — the House's Education and Labor Committee.

It so happens, though, that this is the House committee to which President Kennedy's education bill — which bars federal funds to parochial and other private schools — has been sent.

Of Polish extraction, and a Roman Catholic himself, Rep. Pucinski quickly sensed the heat that would be generated by this emotion-stirring legislation.

"This was an issue, with religion mixed in, that could tear the country apart," he said. "But I also believed that if reasonable men would try, they could always find a solution to any problem."

So They Say

Instead of being denounced as eggheads, scientists should be looked up to for their intellectual achievements. One of the major faults in our society today is that we intend to equate money with merit. — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, new head of Atomic Energy Commission.

Matter of Fact

The boll weevil isn't everybody's enemy. In fact, some people rather like him because he forced them away from complete dependence on the cotton crop. The weevil brought disaster to the cotton farmers near Enterprise, Ala. But Enterprise soon found it did far better growing peanuts. With rare good humor, the citizens of Enterprise built a monument to the boll weevil, in "profound appreciation of this herald of prosperity."

Thoughts

And bring the fatted calf and kill it, and let us eat and make merry.—Luke 15:23.
Mirth is the sweet wine of human life. It should be offered sparkling with zestful life unto God.—Henry Ward Beecher.

From the Files

5 YEARS AGO — Dale Middeker, James Fife, and Jim Beard, freshmen at the University of Cincinnati, have been pledged to Beta Omicron Chapter of Theta Chi fraternity.

10 YEARS AGO — Mrs. Grace Litty of Lakewood is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dole of E. Second St.

25 YEARS AGO — Miss Ruth Auld was surprised with a birthday party at her home on E. Seventh St.

Rep. Pucinski decided to try. He wrote a letter to the Internal Revenue Service director asking if it would be legal — and constitutional — for a person sending his children to a private school to deduct the tuition from his federal income tax.

APPARENTLY this letter was rocketed to top administration attorneys for decision. The midnight oil-burning began, and the lawyers are now reported to have advised the President there is no constitutional bar to allowing such a deduction.

Barring accidents, and Washington is a legislatively accident-prone city, adoption of this idea might solve the dilemma facing school legislation.

First, it would permit adoption of the Kennedy school bill without direct federal aid, or even loans, to religious or other private schools, which the President holds is unconstitutional.

Second, however, it could satisfy the Catholic hierarchy by allowing that church's communicants income-tax deduction for tuition they pay, in one way or another, for sending their offspring to Catholic schools.

Their complaint now is, that they are taxed for the public-school system but must also pay for their private-school set-up.

Rep. Pucinski himself doesn't know whether the Internal Revenue Service will rule that such a deduction is legal. But if it doesn't he's ready to introduce a bill and try to get it through Congress making it legal. Congressional passage, of course, would probably result in a final Supreme Court ruling.

Rep. Pucinski attended Chicago's public schools, Northwestern University and John Marshall Law School there. (He was born in Buffalo May 13, 1919, but was taken to the Windy City as a child).

THERE WAS a gap between the university and law school however, because World War II had come, and Mr. Pucinski enlisted as a private in the old 106th Horse Cavalry. Shortly afterward, the outfit was motorized, and Mr. Pucinski was put on a motorcycle.

He decided if he had to run an engine, it might as well be an airplane engine, so he transferred to the Air Force as a cadet and wound up as a bomber pilot in the 20th Air Force.

This outfit was based on Saipan and the future congressman, who had won a captain's bars, led a bomber group on the first B-29 raid on Tokyo. He flew 48 missions in all over Japan, winning a Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal, with clusters, in the process.

Mustered out in 1945, he enrolled at John Marshall Law School and studied three years, meanwhile working too, as a political reporter. One of his newspaper chores in 1948 was to run a straw poll on the presidential election.

He found he couldn't conduct the straw poll and go to law school too, so he dropped out of school and never did get a law degree.

LATER, a special House committee to investigate the massacre of 15,000 Polish officers in Katyn Forest during World War II, was seeking a man who was trained to look for facts, knew a little law and spoke Polish.

Mr. Pucinski filled all three requirements and he was hired as the committee's investigator, taking a leave of absence from his paper.

That taste of congressional doings, plus an interest in politics as a reporter, decided him to make a try for Congress. He did in 1958 and lost. But he made it in 1958.

Getting back to the school bill, Rep. Pucinski says he learned something in the 106th Cavalry that's really helped him in Congress. Namely, that horses are a like people. If you co-operate with the horse he'll co-operate with you.

He thinks this can apply to the federal aid to education situation.

Congo Might Solve Problems—If Let Alone

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo—What the Congo desperately needs is to be let alone.

To the visitor conditioned by the high-flown oratory about the "turbulent" Congo, the strangest thing about Leopoldville and the area directly controlled by the Kasavubu regime is its lack of turbulence.

This correspondent, for instance, walks every night five blocks to the Congolese telegraph office, which is more than she would do in New York City if the route took her through Central Park.

The Congolese people are friendly and helpful—once it is established that the visitor has nothing to do with the United Nations.

Racism Limited

Only in the provinces controlled or semicontrolled by the Red-recognized Stanleyville regime has racism been the official policy. And with regard to the outrages against Americans trapped in remote Kindu, it must be stressed again and again that the terror perpetrated there against both white and Congolese is caused by leaderless bands of Congolese soldiers who were transported there by late Patrice Lumumba when he started his abortive civil war.

And one of the lonely bright spots in this all dark picture in Kindu is the way in which the black civilian population has tried to help the hard-pressed whites, giving them food—and, more important, hiding them.

In the Leopoldville area, the only real tension is between the United Nations and the Congolese authorities. For the United Nations, whose public relations here is abominable, for too long has allowed the impression to stand that it intended to use armed force if necessary to disarm the Congolese.

Claims Arrogance

And indeed the high-handed arrogance, even contempt, with which the reigning U.N. representative in the Congo, Rajeshwar Dayal of India, treated the Kasavubu regime would give ground for fury on the part of any government, especially, a fledgling government which must see special store by outward trappings of respect for its sovereignty.

An example of how factors completely beyond the scope of the Congo national interest are injected into decisions affecting this country is afforded by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's bland insistence that Dayal is to come back to the Congo, whether the Congolese like it or not.

Consults in New York

Dayal is now in New York for consultations at U.N. headquarters. Why? Because, according to high sources, Hammarskjöld fears to offend Dayal's countryman and boss, Prime Minister Nehru of India.

But what is good for Nehru is not necessarily good for the Congo. The fact is that the "temporary" chief of the U.N. here, Mekki Abbas of the Sudan, has done much to ease the explosive situation created by Dayal's aloofness from the Congo's leaders.

Instead of confronting them with accomplished facts, Abbas even has bothered to explain the reasons behind certain U.N. actions, as Dayal was not wont to do.

Need for Perspective

The Congolese also need to be understood in the perspective of all Africa. It must be understood, for instance, that Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah was no more right to speak on Congolese affairs and be treated as the true voice of Africa than Premier Fidel Castro would have the right to speak on Venezuelan affairs and be considered the voice of the Americas.

Indeed, Ghana is disliked by the overwhelming majority of West African states for its territorial ambitions and its hypocrisy in calling for measures in other countries it has no intentions of allying in its own.

President Joseph Kasavubu has been the first to admit that much needs urgent correction inside this country, including the discipline of his troops. But he has insisted that the reorganization of his army be done by the United Nations in cooperation with the Congolese national army, instead of unilaterally.

Is this so much to ask?

Unity Develops

The new Congolese confederation decided on by the various Congolese leaders at Tananarive in Malagasy is a hopeful sign of new-found unity. It is not the end of troubles, but perhaps the beginning of the end.

It is just possible that the Congolese, if they are let alone, can solve their problems — including the rapprochement with the rebel Stanleyville regime.

What is certain is that there will be no solution if outside powers, including the United Nations continue to treat the Leopoldville regime as one made up of political children to whom the wise world community should pay no mind.

The membership of the United Nations has accepted the Congo as a sovereign power.

It also is just possible that the responsible Congolese leadership might on some issues know what is best for the Congo—or at least know better than Ghana, the United Arab Republic and Russia and sometimes even better than the United Nations.

Clipping Penalty

By TRUMAN TWILL

I remember some years back when the late O. O. McIntyre, who invented the syndicated gossip columnist for readers who like to rub elbows with the famous and the notorious, used a cute trick to show how many readers he had.

After he had written a column in which he mentioned how good home-made jelly was and how he missed it in his new habitat in big, bustling New York City, he wrote another one mentioning he had been receiving jelly by the crate from ladies who wanted to prove the art of jelly-making hadn't been lost.

Whether McIntyre received jelly in quantities is indeterminate. Maybe he received jelly, but more to the point is the fact he received fame for being the kind of columnist who can receive jelly by mentioning the matter in his column.

There are some syndicates that expect their trained seals to bark for fish every so often, so the syndicate managers can count the fish and govern the writer's pay accordingly.

And you can be sure there are syndicate writers who have practiced the art of looking appealing, with a view to pulling in more fish, both edible and spendable. O. O. McIntyre invented more than he knew when he worked out that jelly pitch.

Then there are columns like this one that aren't calculated to draw responses, though occasionally a reader writes a comment on something that was written at some indeterminate date in the past and would like a clipping. This happens often enough to call for an explanation.

The span of the Twill memory on columns is two weeks. Beyond that, it blurs out and it could be two months or two years.

No clippings are kept. Truman Twill has no scrapbook with all his stuff pasted in it. The only way to find a half remembered column is to look for it in the files of the paper, and if it is longer ago than the recent past there would be no clipping anyway.

There could be only a photostat of the column — and in a figurative sense it would be a photostat of a photostat because newspapers are filed on film, to save space and facilitate handling for reference and research.

There is no index of columns according to subject. It would be impossible. It also would be useless, because what the reader might remember as the central idea is not necessarily what the writer thought was the idea when he wrote it. It's that kind of a column.

There has been a problem through the years — requests for a clipping of something a reader liked which appeared at some vague time in the past — "a couple of years ago." It has been impossible to do anything about these. If there still are old newspapers lying around and it wasn't more than a month ago, clippings sometimes can be supplied. But eventually, there are no more old papers. The only way to get a reprint is with a camera, provided the date is known.

The thing is embarrassing because readers who want clippings are incredulous when they learn Truman Twill not only keeps no clippings but doesn't even know when he wrote the one the reader liked and intended to keep but the paper was thrown away . . . you know how it is.

Yup. Same here. If I'd had a clipping of the last time I explained why there aren't any clippings I wouldn't have had to write this.

SALEM JUNIOR Democratic Club will sponsor a benefit dance Saturday from 9:30 p.m. to 12:30, with Franklin Copacia and his orchestra providing the music. The group also will sponsor a fish fry supper March 31 from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m.

A DANCE at Hi Neighbor dance hall Tuesday evening honored Tom Eichler and Larry Cope in celebration of their birthday anniversaries. Tom was 17 and Larry 16.

Forty-five guests from Salineville, Youngstown, Columbiana and Beloit attended the party given by the boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eichler of Pidgeon Road and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Cope of Franklin St. Civil AIR Patrol cadets and senior members also were guests. The honorees received gifts.

BETA ETA OF OHIO, local chapter of Psi Mu Music Society met recently at the home of Judy Zimmerman of Depot Road.

At the business meeting, reports were given on the progress of a benefit to help defray expenses of the group's approaching Spring pageant.

Prizes went to Joyce John, a guest, Mary Lou Woolf and Linda Timm.

Musical entertainment was provided by Joyce John, who played several clarinet selections.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, with the assistance of her mother.

The next meeting will be April 25 at the home of Mary Lou Harris of RD 3, Salem.

TWO SURPRISE baby showers were held recently for Mrs. Arla Ehrhart. The first party was held in the home of Mrs. Fred Jennings, with 12 guests attending from Damascus, Salineville and Salem.

Yellow and white prevailed in the table decorations, which featured a cake decorated with a stork.

Prizes were won by Miss Donna Jean Davis, Mrs. Richard Lozier, Miss Kay Lindner, Miss Linda Raffle and Mrs. Judy Lafferty.

The second party was held in the Eagles Hall, which was decorated with white streamers and pink and blue articles, that were later given to the honoree.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Miss Donna Jean Davis, and Mrs. Richard Lozier. Miniature dolls in small cradles decorated with pink, blue and white flowers, and made by Miss Davis, centered the buffet table.

Game prizes went to Miss Pat Ehrhart, Mrs. Frank Fannelli, Mrs. Dave Ehrhart, Mrs. Clarence Lozier and the honoree.

MISS SHELBY ROOF of Alliance, who will become the bride of James Bernardy of Glendale, Calif., in the near future, was honored at a shower party recently in the home of Joyce Smith of Alliance.

Associate hostesses for the surprise party were Kitty Haney, Florence Graubner and Bonnie Smeltzer.

Traveling bingo prizes went to Marge Weiznecker, Susie Lewis, Avon Williams, Nellie Emery and Kitty Haney.

Pink appointments decorated the refreshment table, which was centered with a three-tiered cake.

The bride-to-be, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Roof of Sebring, formerly of Salem, will be married in California.

The bridegroom, now stationed in Germany, will be discharged in April.

Shrine Club Meets, Plans Future Events

Food for outer-space travelers was the topic of a movie, "Beyond the Graveosphere," presented by Carl Johnson at a meeting of the Salem Area Shrine Club Thursday evening in Timberlane.

Mr. Johnson, vice president and general manager of Armour Alliance Industries, showed samples of dehydrated food to illustrate the compact preparation of food possible for space-age meals.

Other guests at the meeting were Clarke Joy of Cleveland, high priest and prophet of Al Koran Temple, and C. Virgil Rakestraw of Mahi temple, Miami, Fla.

Prizes were made for members to attend the April 26 meeting of the Alliance Shrine Club when Ministers Night will be observed.

The next regular meeting of the local club will be April 27 at 6:30 p.m. in the American Legion Hall. Membership Night will be observed and the program will be presented by the Al Koran Temple from Cleveland.

ON COLLEGE HONOR ROLL

Eight Salem area students are among the 206 Youngstown University students who are on the honor roll this year.

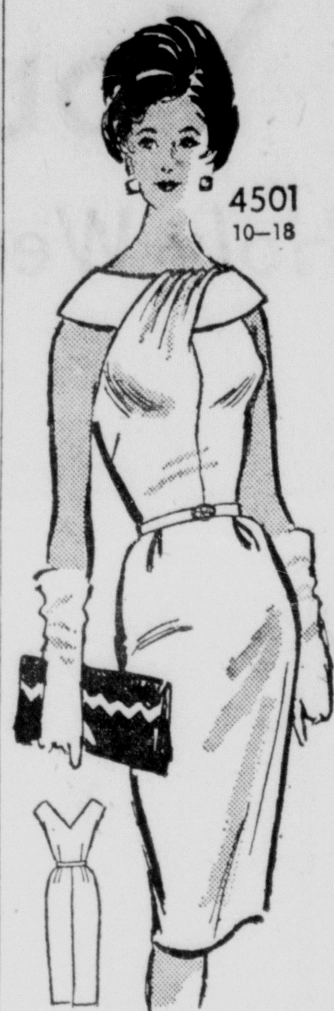

Honor roll members of the area are: Freshmen, Tony Everett of 873 E. 6th St., Paul Dennis Gray of 1582 Fairview Court, Larry L. Reed of Columbiana and Roger Allan Fritch, Columbiana.

Sophomores, Betty Day of Lisbon; juniors, John Jacob Albright of Columbiana, Robert Fred Taylor of 636 Jennings Ave.; seniors, Larry E. Esterly of New Waterford.

FINISH TRAINING

Eleven students of the Hannah E. Mullins School of Practical Nursing returned this week from Akron Children's Hospital where they spent eight weeks in pediatric work. Nine other students of the Salem School left for the Akron hospital for their eight weeks of affiliation.

Minimum Pay Bill Trimmed by House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conservative coalition in the House has applied the brakes to President Kennedy's economic program by rejecting the minimum wage legislation he requested.

A compromise measure endorsed by the President lost by an eyelash, 86-185, Friday and the House then passed a Republican-backed bill drawn on a much narrower scale.

The bill, introduced by Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, raises the minimum wage from $1 an hour to $1.15 for the 24 million employees now covered and brings in 1.4 million who were formerly uncovered. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The administration-backed bill would have increased the wage to $1.25 in two steps and brought in 3.8 million more workers.

The defeat of the compromise bill was also a bitter blow to the House leadership. It threw its full weight behind the bill but was unable to crack the better disciplined ranks of the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition.

Fewer than a half dozen Republicans deserted the coalition on the key 186-185 vote, while at least 40 Southern Democrats joined with the Republican majority.

It was a non-record vote, the members merely standing to be counted.

With the administration bill disposed of, 48 members who had failed to appear for the standing vote showed up for a formal roll call on the coalition substitute, which was approved 216-203. On that vote, 26 Republicans voted against the coalition.

Final passage of the bill, a mere formality after all alternatives had been disposed of, was by a 340-78 roll call vote.

It was the second time the House has thwarted Kennedy on a minimum wage bill. Last year the senator sponsored much the same measure as the administration proposed this year and steered it to 62-34 victory in the Senate.

The House, however, followed the same pattern it did Friday and adopted a scaled-down, coalition substitute. Neither side would agree to a compromise and the bill died.

Laos

Felixberto Serrano said he will propose that the United Nations guarantee Laos' neutrality.

The foreign affairs chiefs of the SEATO nations will try to devise a peaceful solution to the problem of an impending Communist take-over in Laos. But the leaders have shown signs of solidarity in a determination to carry out their SEATO commitment to defend Laos by arms if everything else fails.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, due in Bangkok tonight, said on a Honolulu stopover that "the responsibility of the SEATO nations must be realized in the event no peaceable settlement can be worked out."

The SEATO talks bring together Rusk, Lord Home, Serrano and Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia, Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand, French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville, Foreign Minister Munzar Qadir of Pakistan, and Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand.

The Communists are holding a Warsaw Pact conference next Tuesday, with Laos sure to get major attention. Moscow diplomatic sources said the meeting may be attended by Soviet Premier Khrushchev himself, along with other Communist heads of government.

Reports on the fighting in Laos between pro-Western government forces and Communist-supplied Pathet Lao rebels were meager. Premier Prince Boun Oum's government has charged that North Vietnamese Communist troops invaded from across the border and joined the pro-Communist Pathet Lao offensive in the kingdom's narrow waist.

The rebel offensive that began anew March 7 cut the major highway between the administrative capital at Luang Prabang in the north. Advance elements are said to have moved to within 15 or 20 miles of Vientiane. The offensive first began 80 miles north of the city.

The Laotian government offered no conclusive evidence of its charge Friday that six North Vietnamese battalions were now in the fighting. It has made similar charges before without proof. Fifteen U.S. helicopters reached Thailand on their way to join five others being flown by the Laotians to transport troops and bring back wounded from the front.

Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, royal Laotian army commander, insists his men control the situation, despite demoralizing combat reverses in the past few weeks.

The Laotians, peaceful by nature, celebrated army day in Vientiane with parades and merry-making Friday.

Secrecy surrounds everything concerning warship and troop movements at U.S. bases in the Far East. The aircraft carrier Bennington's departure from the Philippines was one in a series of moves by U.S. 7th Fleet vessels.

American commanders would say nothing.

U.S. military forces on Formosa were put on increased alert status today, authoritative sources on the Nationalist Chinese island said.

Friday is "Community Day," with Rev. William Snowball and Rev. Ray Hunter in charge of the service.

Heart

The purpose of the machine is to keep the patient's brain alive until he can be placed in a hospital for surgery.

Dr. David S. Leighninger, an associate of Beck who is professor of cardiovascular surgery at Western Reserve University, said that in some cases the machine could restore completely the heart beat.

"This is because 'many hearts die that are too good to die,' Leighninger explained. They are seized with a convulsive motion that prevents their pumping blood, but 'under proper conditions these hearts could be made to beat again,' Leighninger said.

Leighninger introduced to the Cleveland doctors Richard A. Heyard, 28, of Canton, Ohio, and said Heyard was the first authenticated case in which life and a normal heart beat were restored to a person whose heart had gone into fibrillation — or the convulsive stoppage of circulation.

Dr. Beck pumped the heart of Heyard on June 22, 1947, and then applied electric shock successfully.

U.S. Chamber Officer Here Next Thursday

Richard Bailey, district manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will be in Salem Thursday to confer with Salem Chamber President Walter B. Null and Secretary Vic Ballenger regarding the local group's present work program.

Bailey is also scheduled to meet with the Chamber's legislative committee at 10 a.m. Thursday, ames Aldom is the head of this committee. Bailey will conclude his day's activities with a meeting with President Null, Secretary Ballenger and J. Raymond Stiver regarding the Chamber's recent work on the "Action course in Practical Politics."

Stiver is in charge of the local unit's work in the national project.

Chamber Secretary Ballenger also announced there will be a meeting of the Chamber's board of directors at noon Monday to discuss committee reports.

The C. of C. Highway Committee will meet at 4 p.m. Monday to prepare for the county-wide meeting April 12 in Lisbon. The meeting, which will be attended by State Highway Director Everett Preston and other state highway officials, has been arranged by the Salem Chamber to help spell out the future of U.S. Route 62, with respect to Columbiana county.

Living Costs In February Set Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—The general principle that what goes up must come down apparently does not apply to people's living costs.

That's what a Labor Department official explained Friday in reporting that living costs climbed back to a record level in February.

Robert J. Myers, the department's price statistics chief, was asked why prices don't come tumbling down when so many people are unemployed and demand for consumer items has presumably slackened somewhat.

Myers replied that demand has not slackened much for many consumer requirements—food for example. Food is the biggest factor in living cost calculations. Costs to producers haven't declined, either, he remarked.

Labor Department studies, Myers said, indicate there are too many built-in cost factors, such as labor contracts and other commitments that keep cost elements from diminishing even in relatively poor times.

Consumer prices rose one-tenth of one per cent in February to reach the prior living cost peak set in December. A slight decline recorded in December, first monthly drop in a year, was wiped out.

The department's February index is 127.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average living cost level. This means it now costs 27½ cents more to buy what a dollar would buy 20 years the consumer price level has more than doubled.

Higher costs of medical care and food, Myers said, were the "chief culprits" in the February living-cost increase. But prices were higher, too, for clothing, used cars, household textiles, newspapers and movie admissions.

Victim Of Accident Shows Improvement

Joshua Marmo, 21, of Cannonsburg, Pa., who was critically injured in a car-truck mishap at the intersection of Routes 14 and 534 at Williams Corners Tuesday morning, is listed in fair condition today at the Salem Central Clinic.

Marmo suffered a head injury when the car in which he was a passenger was struck by a truck operated by Luther Runkle, 55, of Kinsman. Runkle was cited by the State Highway Patrol for failing to yield the right of way.

Portsmouth, Urbana to Meet for Ohio Class 'AA' Title

Ohio State, Cincinnati Gain NCAA Basketball Finals

Liberty to Face Ayersville in 'A'

Leopards Favored to Bring Crown Back to Northeastern Part of State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The North and the South will divide Ohio's high school basketball championships in today's finals.

Urbana and Portsmouth, both from rebel country, will fight it out tonight for the Class AA lures.

Youngstown Liberty and Ayersville, both from the northland, meet this afternoon for the Class A title.

The quartet emerged from Friday's surprising semi-finals in which two losers threw away what appeared to be absolutely safe leads, and three fouled themselves out of action.

The scores:

Class A
Ayersville 51, Proctorville Fairland 49
Youngstown Liberty 57, Madison South 42

Class AA
Urbana 61, Cleveland East 60
Portsmouth 54, Elyria 52
Urbana's Hillclimbers, running their record to 25-0, halted Cleveland East Tech's 1958 and 1959 champions, and last year's runner-up, in a real come-from-behind thriller.

East Tech had a 10-point lead early in the fourth period, but couldn't hang on. The Scarabs were one of the three teams fouling their way out, for they had a 26-19 edge in field goals. The Hillclimbers cashed 23 of 33 free throws, while Tech was getting 8 of 20.

Portsmouth and Elyria had 19 field goals each, but Portsmouth triumphed by making 16 of 21 free throws while Elyria had 14-23 charity line mark. In that one the score was tied eight times, Elyria led seven times and Portsmouth eight—including the last one which really counted.

Proctorville Fairland's 25-game winning streak faded under the red-hot performance of all-Ohio Danny Neff of Ayersville who scored 30 points to lead all semi-finalists. The Dragons, playing as if they were going to take it all, constructed a 31-18 half-time lead but watched it dwindle away under Neff's 18-point last-half barrage. Proctorville had an 18-17 edge on field goals, but Ayersville connected on 17 of 21 free throws while the Dragons were taking 13 of 18.

Quick Lead For Liberty
Youngstown Liberty needed no foul line aid in ousting Madison South by 57-42. The losers were down 27-12 at the half, and behind by 19 going into the final period. Carl Whitaker of the losers set the scoring pace with 20 points, almost half his team's total.

All four survivors were members of the final top ten in the closing Associated Press poll in which the sports writers picked the favorites from among the 954 schools.

Ayersville was No. 1, and Liberty No. 10, in Class A, Ayersville now boasting a 29-0 record to Liberty's 27-1. Urbana was sixth and Portsmouth eighth (21-3) in the Class AA rankings.

A total of 26,130 viewed Friday's sessions, 12,196 in the afternoon and 13,934 in the evening. Tonight's Class AA final is sold out, but a few ducats are available.

HEY, COME BACK HERE — All eyes are on elusive basketball which slipped from the hands of Alan Taradash (10), of Liberty High School. Action takes place in the second quarter of the game with Madison South in the Ohio School State Basketball Tournament, Columbus. Liberty won 57-42.

Lakers Wallop Hawks 118-112

Take 2-1 Margin In Playoff Series

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles Coach Fred Schaus believes his Lakers now are on their way to the National Basketball Association's Western Division Title. They beat St. Louis 118-112 Friday night and took a 2-1 lead in the playoff series.

"Two of the next three games are going to be on our floor and that should help us," said Schaus.

The Hawks and Lakers resume the best-of-seven games series to-night in the Los Angeles State College gymnasium, where Friday night's contest was played.

St. Louis Coach Paul Seymour said Clyde Lovelette's failure to get going Friday night hurt the Hawks' chances. Lovelette was held to eight points.

The Boston Celtics and the Syracuse Nats resume their Eastern Division playoffs today at Syracuse in an afternoon game that ton leads the best-of-seven series, 2-1.

West Branch Dinner Scheduled Tuesday

Wayne Ashbaugh, Mount Union College basketball coach, will speak at the West Branch Boosters club banquet for the West Branch basketball team Tuesday night at 7:30 at the high school in Damascus.

Ed Gardner will serve as toastmaster.

Outstanding player awards will be made at the conclusion of the banquet.

Tickets may be obtained at the door or from Gordon Birkhimer, Boosters Club president.

SALEM TEAM IN TOURNNEY

The Salem All-Stars, a team composed of former high school and local Class A League products, will compete in the Sebring All-Ohio Basketball Tourney. The first game for the local entry will be 7 p.m. Tuesday against an Alliance team.

22 Golfers Bunched Near Top

Jay Hebert Maintains Slim Lead at Miami

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—With 22 players bunched within seven strokes, first money in the $25,000 Sunshine Open golf tournament was anybody's prize as the event moved into the third round today.

Jay Hebert, who had a 66 to lead at the end of the first round, added a 68 Friday for a 10-under-par total of 134 to retain his slim margin, with Julius Boros and Gay Brewer Jr., breathing down his neck, each with 135.

Bob Brue was alone at 136, Gary Player at 137 and Arnold Palmer at 138.

Brewer turned in the best round of the tournament to date Friday with 31-34—65 over the 6,632 yard par 36-36—72 Bayshore course. The tall young pro hit 14 greens and had only 26 putts. He had eight birdies and bogied only the 14th, where his second shot bounced over the green.

Sam Snead was grouped with four others at 139, five strokes off the pace.

American Legion Baseball Prospects To Meet Sunday

Boys between the ages of 16 and 18 who wish to play American Legion Junior Baseball this season are asked to report for interviews at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the American Legion Home on East State St.

John Herman, Jr., president of the Salem Junior Baseball League and athletic officer for the Salem American Legion post, reports that the Legion playing age has been moved up for this season. Any boy who reaches his 18th birthday after Jan. 1 is eligible to play. This means that all members of Salem's 1960 team are eligible to play again this year, Herman said.

Legion officials hope to field two Legion teams this season. The turnout of players will determine whether or not the Legion will sponsor one or two teams, Herman says. All boys moving up from the Class E League who want to play baseball with a Salem team again this season are requested to attend the meeting Sunday.

Softball Association To Meet Tuesday

The Salem Softball Association will hold its second spring meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Memorial Building.

Joe Winkler, president of the association, stated that he hopes all managers, prospective players in Classes A, Double A, B and the So-Break League will attend. Playing dates, times and rule changes will be included in the discussion.

Friars, Billikens Tangle Today

Contest To Decide NIT Championship

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A carefree and often careless Providence College basketball team meets its opposite number, St. Louis University, today in the final of the 24th National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden.

In sharp contrast to the helter-skelter passing and scoring that has marked the Friars' progress to the final for the second straight year, the St. Louis Billikens handle the ball so carefully they sometimes seem hesitant to let go a shot.

The nationally televised (NBC-TV) final at 4 p.m. (EST) will be preceded by the third-place playoff between Holy Cross and Dayton, the beaten semifinalists.

St. Louis Coach John Benington insists his boys aren't unduly cautious about shooting. They'll take the first good shot they see instead of waiting for a perfect opening, he says. But it has to be a good one.

But the Bills' forte is a tight, aggressive man-to-man defense that pays off in intercepted passes and makes the most of mistakes by their opponents.

Providence usually makes some mistakes. Coach Joe Mullaney admits that and hopes his boys won't make too many. But the Friars run and shoot a lot and they play an unorthodox style both on offense and defense that can give any team trouble.

The presence of 6-10 Jim Hadnot at center gives Providence a height advantage up front. But so far Hadnot hasn't played a very important role in the Friar victories. A pair of mobile, driving back court men, 5-8 Vinnie Ernst and 6-0 John Egan, have been the driving forces.

The standout individual on the well-balanced St. Louis team has been 6-4 Gordon Hartweg, whose 47 points in three games have included a good many clutch baskets. He also is strong on defense. Tom Kieffer and Glen Mankowski are a pair of solid 6-3 back court men.

The cutoff point for the low 70 pros and ties was 147, and most of the name players made it. Paul Harney, Frank Stranahan, Len Woodward and Tony Lema missed out at 148, Bob Goetz at 149, Bob Toski at 150 and Bill Collins at 151.

Art Wall Jr., was forced to withdraw because of a pulled back muscle.

The field will be cut to 60 and ties tonight for the final round Sunday.

Struthers Player Hit by Ball Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Death has claimed Bob Adams, the victim of a batted ball which hit him in the right temple during practice with the Ohio University baseball team.

The 20-year-old sophomore pitcher from Struthers in Mahoning County died Friday night in University Hospital here. He had been in critical condition, never having regained consciousness after the March 14 accident.

WIN LOW GROSS HONORS

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—John R. Jacob of Canton, Ohio, and George Treadwell of Memphis, Tenn., teamed up to shot a 35-33—68 Friday and won the low gross honors in the best ball event for senior golfers.

Their score over the 6,500-yard, par-71 Ponce de Leon Course preceded today's inaugural Ponce de Leon Seniors Golf Tournament.

Nation's 2 Top Teams to Clash

Buckeyes Clobber St. Joseph's; Classy Bearcats Rip Utah, 82-67

By The Associated Press
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Ohio State's fearsome Buckeyes and Cincinnati's classy Bearcats, rated the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 teams, meet in their first basketball game in 39 years tonight.

The prize will be the National Collegiate (NCAA) championship—the second straight for Ohio State if the Buckeyes win.

It will be the first time in 23 NCAA tournaments that two teams from the same state have been paired for the championship.

Ohio State is favored to win. The Ohio State-Cincinnati game will start at 10 p.m. (EST). Utah and St. Joseph's (Pa) will meet for third place.

Coach Fred Taylor's machine-like Buckeyes warmed up for the defense of their national crown by outclassing St. Joseph's 95-69 in Friday night's semifinals before a capacity crowd of 10,700 in Municipal Auditorium.

It was the 32nd consecutive victory for Ohio State, one of the longest unbeaten streaks in collegiate basketball history.

Cincinnati had almost as easy a romp, making the Utah Redmen its 21st consecutive victim 82-67.

Taylor said, "We know Cincinnati has a fine team with real balance and that we will have to play our very best to beat them."

Ed Jucker, completing his first season as head coach at Cincinnati, said his team is conceding Ohio State "absolutely nothing."

Jerry Lucas, Ohio State's All-America, played a superb game against St. Joseph's. The 6-9 junior from Middletown, Ohio, scored 29 points, making 10 of 11 field goal attempts and nine of 10 free throws. He also was the No. 1 rebounder with 13 captures.

The Buckeyes hit 38 of 60 shots for 63.3 per cent. St. Joseph's could hit only 28.9 per cent, 22 of 76.

Cincinnati was on the warm side from the field, too. The Bearcats made 30 of 59 shots for 50.8 per cent compared to Utah's 27 of 67 for 40.3 per cent.

Both games were settled in the first half. Ohio State rolled up a 45-28 advantage the first 20 minutes with Lucas pacing the attack with 14 points.

Cincinnati cracked Utah's zone defense and led 35-20 at the intermission. Paul Houge, 6-9 junior, scored 21 points in the Bearcats' attack that had four players finishing in double figures.
